

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY + TECHNOLOGY

We advise clients on multiple aspects of intellectual property law, including trade-marks, copyrights, licensing, industrial design, information technology and data centre management, trade secrets, confidential information, biotechnology, software and other technology issues.

OUR EXPERTISE

Our clients come from both the public and private sectors and are actively engaged in diverse industries including the software, music, film, health, information technology, manufacturing, publishing, service and travel sectors. Such clients include information technology service providers, hospitals, biotechnology, pharmaceutical and nutraceutical companies, software developers, licensors and vendors, smartphone application and mobile device application developers, video game developers and publishers and C-level executives, directors and other professionals within these organizations.

Passionate about their innovative products and services, our clients provide the creative energy necessary to make their businesses successful. Our lawyers provide sophisticated legal tools and services so that our clients' products and services are protected and secure.

Our lawyers conduct a significant amount of work with institutional and small business enterprises in acquisition of IP assets, system integration, system implementation and software licensing. We also work extensively with foreign attorneys to assist clients with issues outside of Canada.

We monitor trends in emerging media and technology for any potential legal impact on our clients and seek to apply innovative approaches in solving their business challenges.

OUR SERVICES

TRADE-MARKS

We are registered Canadian Trade-mark Agents and regularly prepare and prosecute trade-mark applications, represent clients in trade-mark litigation, conduct trade-mark and name searches, obtain clearance and pre-clearance both nationally and internationally and conduct trade-mark licensing. For clients involved in globalized name and mark arrangements, we draw upon a wide network in other jurisdictions to ensure smooth delivery on an inter-jurisdictional basis. We also assist clients in enforcing trade-mark rights and in resolving disputes in administrative forums and the courts.
