BIOGRAPHY

Tamlin Cooper is an Associate Counsel and a member of the firm's Family Law Practice Group.

Tamlin's family law practice is primarily focused on litigation and includes complex financial matters relating to asset division, spousal support, child support and income determinations. She also drafts and advises clients on cohabitation, marriage and separation agreements. Tamlin is a certified collaborative family lawyer and regularly represents clients in court, as well as through mediation and other alternative dispute resolution processes.

Tamlin takes an individualized approach to each client, providing practical advice and working to build strong relationships while helping clients achieve resolution.

Tamlin has represented clients at all levels of courts in British Columbia and before arbitrators and mediators in alternative dispute resolution forums. She has been recognized among the "Ones to Watch" by Best Lawyers in Canada from 2023 to 2026.

Before articling with the firm in 2014, Tamlin worked as a judicial law clerk for seven justices at the Supreme Court of British Columbia.

ON A PERSONAL NOTE

Tamlin enjoys travelling, spending time with her young family, and taking pottery classes.
